Overview of Safety, Health & Welfare at Work (Construction) Regulations 2013

The Safety, Health and Welfare at Work (Construction) Regulations 2013 introduced significant changes to how construction safety is managed in Ireland. These regulations affect all construction projects and place clear legal obligations on duty-holders including clients, designers, contractors and project supervisors.

This focused half-day course offers a concise overview of the key roles and responsibilities under the legislation. Learners will gain essential knowledge of compliance requirements and practical guidance on how to meet them in real construction scenarios. This course equips participants with clarity, confidence and compliance strategies.
